The Official Statement of the Cowmissioner, Justice:

“The State of COW Address”

Hello to all the Champions of Wrestling fans and associates out there. It is time to clear up a few misunderstandings and give the people a little inside information on how I, Justice, work as the current Cowmissioner. It is true that I have had quite a time cleaning up the MESS that Political Steve has left behind in his overly extended “reign” as the Cowmissioner. I have been very busy going through the files, cleaning out the trash, and finally signing contracts and writing up documents that had needed to be signed for a long while now. I am not saying that Political Steve didn’t do his job; I’m just saying that he did a lousy one at that. For the record, I have never thrown complaints or problems out the window or even shredded them. Even if it takes me forever to get through the disorder Political Steve has left behind, I will not stop until I have completed each task and solved each problem. I am not a quitter, in wrestling or in the office. When I start something, I finish it. Nothing is set aside.

I have always and will forever strive for success and excellence in whatever I do. Since day one, I have promised the fans and the COW workers and talent that I will do my best to serve their needs and bring back order and “justice” to Champions of Wrestling. I have always loved this company and the talent it contains. I wish to only do what is right for the people involved with the grand spectacle which COW wrestling encompasses.

I always keep a cool head even when I get frustrated. Sure there is an excruciating amount of work to be done, but I will not stop until it is done. If I exploded every time I was stressed, I’d end up like Political Steve and either get nothing done or book myself in a match to win the Heavy Weight title. Speaking of the COW title, somehow or another the dirty official document that Political Steve had written up, denying me a COW Heavy Weight title rematch, has “leaked” out into the news by someone who I have yet to find out the identity of. It really doesn’t matter who this “Las Noticias Persiguen” is nor do I care to find out, unless there is a need to if this mysterious character decides to cause trouble in the world of COW. For now, he is an excellent undercover newsy and I applaud his efforts to stay hidden and still discover the interesting scoops. I am not seeking the COW Heavy Weight title at this time. Although the desire to strive for that greatness again is still there, I have my full concentration on the Cowmissionership.

I have never wanted nor will ever want the Cowmissionership for personally gain. I am not here for my own gain, but for the gain of the fans and of COW. I do not seek any glory from this position and I do not need any special treatment given to me. I don’t expect anything like that. Oh, and by the way, my office may be smaller than Political Steve’s, but it’s all I need to do my job. It’s not like Political Steve’s “bigger” office has helped him get his job done acceptably or done correctly or even helped him become a better politician. No, I don't need any fancy things. I am a humble Cowmissioner and I admit that I am not in it for the money, the power, or the fame. I am in it for the people. And that is a lot to be said considering what ANY political piece of garbage is in office for, from the mayor to the governor and even to the president. I don't care about politics. It is a bunch of B.S. and butt kissing anyway. I am not a political Cowmissioner. I am a humble man doing my best and doing what I feel is right for the people. My office is and will always be an open door. Feel free to confer in me with your comments, questions, troubles, or anything else you feel should be done in COW and I will gladly do my best to help you out in a timely manner. I'm the People's Cowmissioner. I'm for the people and I give all the credit to the people when I say that I was put here in this position by the people. I love this opportunity. I love my work.

Whether or not MooMania III was COW's last show, C.O.W. will continue to grow and continue to entertain the fans. I encourage the expansion and growth of COW in its talent, its fan base, its offices, its multimedia, and its success in the world of "backyard" wrestling. That is my dream. That is my vision. Entertaining the fans in every way possible is what COW is all about.
